PRACTICE
Mindfulness

Mindfulness helps us learn to pay attention to our bodies, minds, and environment and to understand our feelings with a kind and curious mind. Being mindful can help us focus and concentrate better, to take a pause or calm down when stressed, angry or sad.

Building a strong brain includes understanding feelings, thoughts, and behaviours and learning skills and strategies to cope through difficult times. Learn simple ways you can expand your mind to create a healthy growth mindset.

Mindfulness

PRACTICE
Make a "mind jar", using glitter and water. The shaken glitter represents our thoughts and emotions. Then breathe deeply and watch it settle, just like our minds.

Creative Crafting

FUEL YOUR BODY
Try watermelon fries with vanilla yogurt dip. Cut watermelon into strips to resemble fries.

Help your child choose a creative activity that they enjoy, and have them teach you about it.

Go on a scavenger hunt, find rocks and paint your family's faces on them.

Create connections. Learn what your elders did for "crafts". Did grandma knit?

Mindfulness PRACTICE

The next time you read a story with your kids, take some time to engage in conversation about the feelings of the people (or animals) in the book.

Family Reading

Fuel YOUR BODY

While you are reading try out a healthy snack of broccoli cheese cups.

When you read and have magazines, books and newspapers around your home, you are showing your child the value of reading for pleasure.

Add some activity to your family reading. Build a tent together or go on a bike ride and read under a beautiful tree.

Read daily to discover the world and learn cool facts.

Mindfulness PRACTICE

Spread kind messages with others by writing them on the sidewalks in your neighborhood for a fun act of anonymous kindness.

Chalk the Walk

Fuel YOUR BODY

Try some apple nachos for a tasty treat.

While creating sidewalk art, ask your child why it's important to treat others with kindness. Teach them about acceptance.

Build ASSETS

Get out that colourful chalk and create a movement circuit to encourage others to try different activities while they walk.

You are awesome. Include your favourite positive affirmations in your chalk design.
